If the party is a single individual their details should be entered in the format as per the screen shot below.

Add individual as a party

If there is already an order for anonymity, enter the names as they appear in the previous court order.
If there is more than one appellant on this appeal and they have different solicitors or interests, they will have to file separately for permission to appeal.

- Appellant
 Respondent

Where individuals or organisations are acting as appellants or respondents in partnership with others and acting as a single entity for the purpose of litigation, then they should be entered as a single party rather than as multiple separate parties with the same representation details.

For example, if the respondents or appellants in a matter are John and Jane Smith, acting together and represented by the same firm then they should be entered as a single party. Please put one individual name under 'First name' and any additional individuals under 'Last name'
